

DEBORAH E. PROWSE

State Bar of Michigan ADR Section
Annual Conference | 2026

Deborah E. Prowse, K.C. is a Calgary-based lawyer, mediator, workplace investigator, founder of Method Workplace Investigation Law LLP. Trained in both social work and law, she has conducted more than 500 mediations. She served as Panel Chair of the Alberta Human Rights Commission and was appointed Alberta's first permanent Health Advocate in 2014, implementing the first provincial Health Charter in Canada. She helped develop Alberta's Patient Safety Framework and its guidelines on Disruptive Behavior in Healthcare.

Her work in patient safety and workplace investigation has centered on what institutions owe people after harm, and what responses restore trust.
